

TOMORROW: Veterans Stand on Capitol Hill For Iraqi Allies Risking Their Lives for American Troops

Washington, DC (February 1, 2017) – Tomorrow, Thursday February 2, at 4:00 PM, Iraq and Afghanistan Veterans of America (IAVA) members will join fellow veterans from multiple organizations to call on President Trump to protect our trusted allies who have served alongside us and continue to serve troops now in combat zones. Veterans will share personal stories and communicate the damaging impact of the recent Executive Order temporarily halting immigration from seven Muslim-majority countries.

WHO: IAVA Members, veterans and allies

WHAT: Uniting to appeal to the White House to protect our trusted allies. They will share personal stories and explain the impact of Executive Order travel ban on national security and troop safety

WHERE: East Front Plaza on Capitol Hill, Washington, DC [on the Capitol Grounds at the corner of Constitution and Delaware Avenues]

WHEN: Thursday, February 2 at 4:00 PM ET

Please email press@iava.org to RSVP for the availability or if additional accommodations might be necessary for an interview around the hearing.
